Ps. Don't BE FOREWORD

There are many types of keys . . . keys to open doors, safes, lockers, and ignitions. Franklin High School offers a special set of keys— keys that open doors to success. They will open the doors to knowledge, cooperation, and a fullness of life. Yet these doors cannot be opened without some effort from the student. Hard work, self-discipline, a desire to do better, and a positive attitude must excel in the individual if he is to crack any of these doors. If he accepts the challenges and opportunities that are placed before him, success will most likely come his way; but if idleness and lack of desire to do well are traits of a student, that goal is not so easy to attain. Franklin High School offers keys in academic, vocational, and social studies; but it is up to each individual to strive toward his goal.

Margaret,
 Good luck next year
 as a sophomore. Only a couple of more years until we're seniors. Remember
 History class. Have fun this summer.

May I have a lick, Danny? Could this be a sucker from a Christmas decoration, Danny?

But, Jan, what seems to be the problem?

Did you say I couldn't sew? That is not true of the girls in home economics classes.

Nancy, I told you to give me the magazine! Magazines are greatly in demand when students write research themes.

A Murfreesboro Devil disrupts a pep rally.

Cynthia, do you have the feeling that someone is following us? Some students who arrive early may have this feeling in the almost deserted halls.

The Hi-Y check in coats at the home basketball games.

The members of the Tri-Hi-Y collected for the Community at school.

The Hi-Y, along with the Tri-Hi-Y, is a young men's Christian association in high school committed to a Christian purpose. The Hi-Y is affiliated with the YMCA in the community. The club's purpose is to create, maintain, and extend better standards of Christian character. The Hi-Y does a variety of projects throughout the school year. The members are responsible for giving devotions each Monday morning. These boys also check coats and hats at the door at basketball games.

Linda and Chris fill envelopes with T. B. seals.

Devotions are given by members of the Tri-Hi-Y clubs each Monday.

The Tri-Hi-Y is a girl's Christian organization formed to help the school and the community by participating in varied projects. The members give devotions with a Hi-Y member each Monday morning. The girls prepared a Christmas basket for a needy family. It's members "stuff" envelopes which were sent to the residents of the town containing T. B. seals. The Tri-Hi-Y also collected money for the Community Fund at school. The programs of this club's meetings are interesting and varied.

School Life

Jimmy shows his beautiful legs as he parades across the stage in the Mr. Beautiful Contest.

Wayne Jones, president of the F.B.L.A. works at the book store each morning selling school supplies.

The F.B.L.A. is the club of the Future Business Leaders of America. This organization helps to encourage students to become leaders in the world of business. It had many interesting projects throughout the year. It presented a skit for the visiting Windsor F.B.L.A. The Mr. Beautiful contest is a highlight of the year. Sponsored by the F.B.L.A., contestants in the contest are football players who model their beautiful physiques. The one with the largest amount of money is crowned Mr. Beautiful of the year.

Posters are made on Thursday afternoon for the big football game Friday.

Jewel and Becky use team work as they cut the posters to be placed around school.

The Pep Club is a very active group of the school. This club helps promote the spirit of F.H.S. by making posters before football games to be placed around the school and also by decorating the goalposts at the football field before each home game. During basketball season the Pep Club decorates the gymnasium by placing long posters on the walls. At all times the members sit together at games and promote spirit. This year the members of this club also started a flash card section. The students involved in this group displayed these colorful cards at many of the football games played at our field.

Varied Clubs Help

Susan consults Miss Evans about the varied projects of the Beta Club.

The F.H.A. is the club of the Future Homemakers of America. These girls take home economics and learn the various homemaking aspects. Each morning a F.H.A. member is responsible for preparing the coffee to be placed in the teachers' lounge. These girls do many other activities such as serving refreshments at faculty meetings, preparing meals for invited guests, and collecting for UNICEF on Halloween night. Other than cooking, these members learn to sew their own clothes.

F.H.A. members place the coffee for the teachers in the lounge before school.

Connie Babb seems to be studying while she has a free minute as she assists Mrs. Gadberry in the library.

The Library Club is an organization consisting of girls who are interested in the various phases of library work. Most members assist Mrs. Gadberry in the library. They are active during their study halls, at lunch periods, and after school. These girls learn the many techniques of keeping a library in order. The club meets once a month and has very interesting programs. One of special interest was a talk by Susan Hancock of her trip to Europe. At another meeting the experienced members taught the incoming members the different aspects of the library work.

Develop Our Potential

The Varsity Club consists of students who have lettered in a Varsity sport or activity. The members of this club operate the popcorn and coke machines at football and basketball games. Also, this club sees that ropes are in place at the basketball games in the gymnasium to make sure no one steps on the court. The Varsity Club purchases some of the trophies that are presented to the varsity sports players. This club does various other things to help the different sports activities.

The Interact Club meets before school every second Tuesday of the month. The members of the club are selected on the basis of trustworthiness, scholarship, leadership, and character. The members solicit people to donate blood to the blood mobile. In this way the club can help the community.

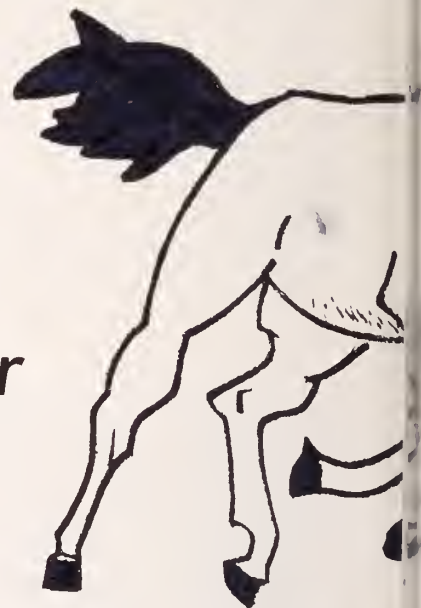

The Interact Club meets for a short while during the morning for a business meeting.

Mathematics and Science Open Doors To Logical Reasoning and Research

The graph board in algebra helps students to understand the course better.

The general science class learns about the world around them.

A geometry student works a proof on the board.

Students find the instruments in the lab to be very helpful in the course.

Social Studies and English Open Doors

The use of the earphones in French helps students to understand the language better.

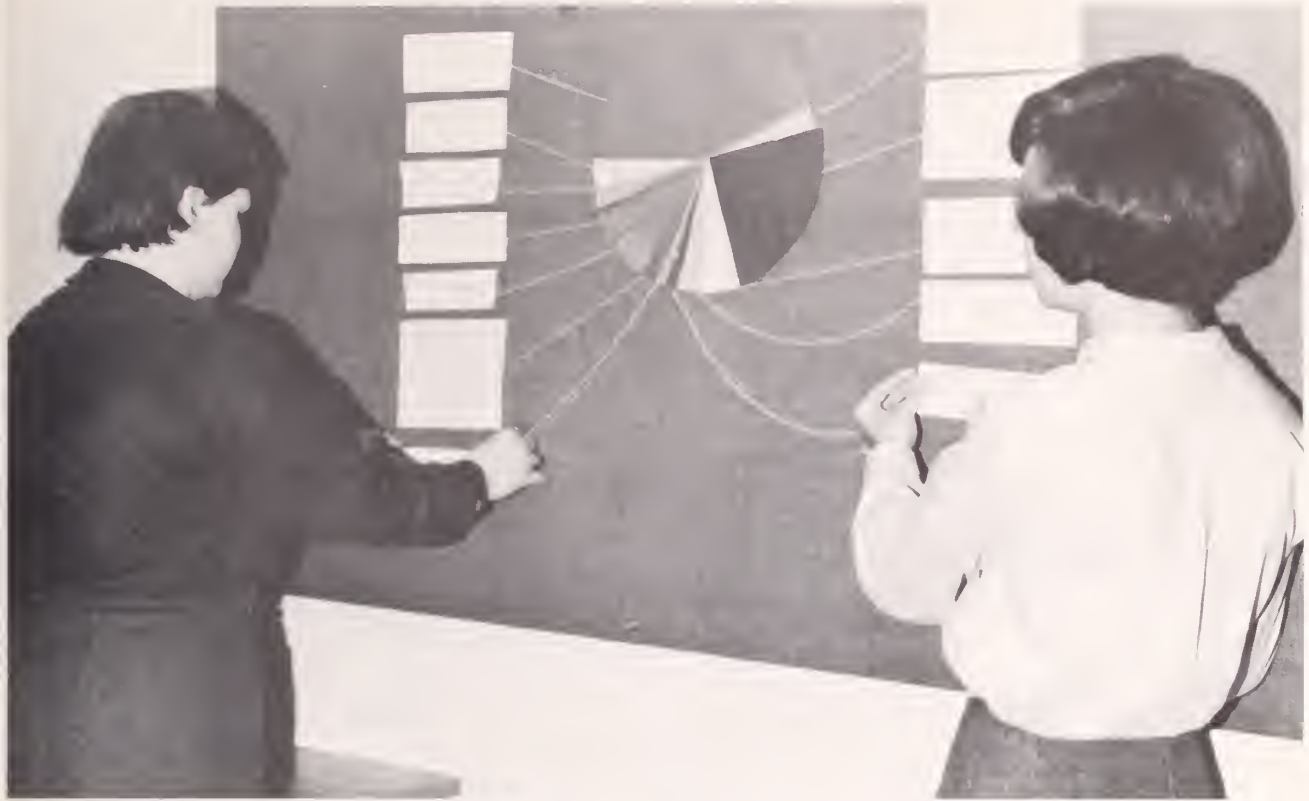

Miss Eubank shows Diane the correct way to write the Latin sentence.

By giving oral reports, students learn to express themselves.

to Communication and Cultural Appreciation

The students in the government classroom make bulletin boards to illustrate what they are studying.

The globe is a useful tool in World Geography class.

The students in U. S. History study the past in order to better their future.

Vocational Courses Open Doors

Typing students learn to concentrate on their work.

A shorthand student illustrates the symbols used in the course.

The business law class learns more about the business world.

To Job Opportunities

Drafting teaches students the techniques in architecture.

The general business class puts up the bulletin board in the business class.

The F.B.L.A., the club of the business students, demonstrates projects of the club.

and Attractive Living

Industrial art students learn to construct things with their hands.

Home Economics teaches students to be homemakers.

Physical Education Encourages Sportsmanship

A very active department in our school is our physical education program. All high school students are required to take three years of this excellent training.

Physical exercise is combined with a variety of sports from football and basketball to hockey and speedball. This course offers a wide range of activities in which any student can excel. Good sportsmanship and team spirit are greatly emphasized in the hope that it may later benefit the student.

Besides involving themselves in the strenuous activities in gym class, the department also stresses the use of proper hygiene. The student learns how his body functions and how by rest, exercise, and food he can keep it functioning properly. Courses in driver's education, sex education, and first aid are taught. It is the department's goal to instill good sportsmanship, to encourage sound mental and physical habits, and to provide wholesome recreation for all its students.

The girls warm up just before they start playing basketball.

A jump is taken during the game.

Jan and Diane start the game off by a jump in the center of the court.

Appreciation Courses

The band strives for perfection.

The chorus practices to perfect their selections.

Enrich Students

The library is filled with activity each morning.

The reference books in the library are used often.

Art students learn to express themselves creatively.

THE OFFICE STAFF

The administration is a very important key in the running of a school. Mr. Davis and Mr. Lassiter head this group. Helping them is Mrs. Hundley, who works to aid students overcome their problems and to help make plans for their future. Mrs. Rawls, who works industriously typing, filing, and doing all manners of other jobs, is another important member of this staff. These members help us in many respects.

Mrs. Rawls works busily completing the work of a routine day.

Mrs. Hundley takes time out from her schedule for a picture.

The Custodial and Lunchroom Staffs Work Diligently

The custodial staff helps to give the students the needed environment for study.

The work of the custodial staff requires many tiring hours. Long after the school day ends these people continue to work to make our school look like the lovely school it is. The floors are kept clean, the windows are kept shining, and the blackboards are washed. The custodial staff helps greatly in creating a much more pleasant environment for study. The school's student body owes much to these workers.

Fred, our oldest member of the staff, brings the mail in.

The cafeteria staff works hard to prepare nourishing meals for the students.

The cafeteria staff works industriously to prepare wholesome meals for the students. For convenience and variety two different plates are served each day. Mrs. Cox and her staff work diligently to prepare the most economical and nourishing meals so that the students can better greet the rest of the day. The students consider this group of workers a very important part of the school.

The Community and School

Coach Mathews addresses those attending the annual football banquet.

The Parent Teachers Association is a volunteer organization that unites the forces of home, school, and community on behalf of children and youth. The Parent Teachers Association offers a variety of entertaining programs. Often an interesting person, may be a top political figure or even a teacher in our own high school, speaks at these programs. The band and chorus add greatly to the programs as does the annual open house.

The PTA is an important key in maintaining the good relationship of the school.

Mr. Vess talks to the parents at open house.

The Interact Club is an organization sponsored by the Franklin Rotary Club. Each fourth Thursday night the Interact members meet and have interesting programs. Dr. Birdsong, a Rotary Club member, attends these meetings and helps the club with their problems. The Interact Club sponsors several community projects during the year.

Buddy and Bob leave for the Rotary luncheon they are to attend.

Work Together

One of the many community services in which our school participates is the annual March of Dimes Drive. This year the promoters of the drive were members of the Beta Club. Each morning a member of this group collected the day's contributions from each homeroom. After the money had been totaled, the results were posted on the hall bulletin board. Many students contributed to this worthy drive.

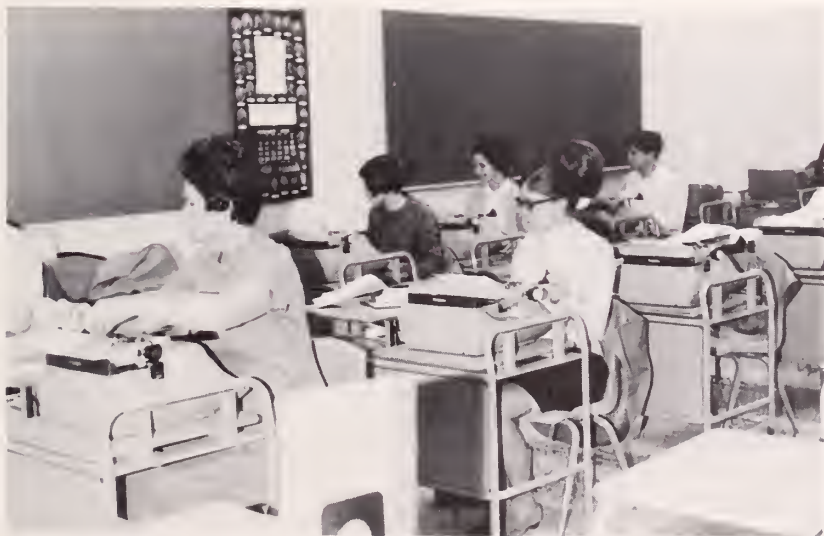

A student checks the daily March of Dimes record which was posted in the hall.

Teresa, Connie, and Dell leave school for work at the hospital.

One of the strongest bonds between the school and the community is found in the Hospital Aide Group. Here, school, hospital, scouting, and community people are all involved in one important activity. Approximately sixty FHS girls are involved in this scouting adventure. In two years they have totaled over 2,000 hours of service to the hospital. These girls do all types of jobs from filling water pitchers to helping serve patients' meals.

Night class students work diligently to perfect their typing skills.

An important link between the school and the community is the weekly night classes. The classes, bookkeeping and typing, are taught by Mrs. Hundley, Mrs. Smith, and some guest teachers. At present seven FHS students and several adults are benefiting from this excellent training. The class meets once a week for one and a half hours. A fall and a spring semester have been offered for three years, but little interest has been shown in the fall class. Forty hours, collected through January to April, is required to pass the course.

Varied Phases

The hard-working majorettes take time out to pose for a picture.

Students read the new issue of the Bronco Bulletin during lunch.

Coach Mathews presents Jimmy with a football award.

The students decorate the tree in the front hall as the Christmas season approaches.

Linda Lankford presents Mr. Durrette a gift during an assembly for the help he gave the Pep Club.

Fans anxiously await the outcome of the game.

of School Life

Future chemists of America seem to be taking it easy.

What seems to be so funny, Peter?

Raymond poses for a picture as he awaits his turn to go on stage in Mr. Beautiful Contest.

The sophomore girls look into the camera for a picture.

Yes, Candy. What were you trying to say?

Marge, what kind of look do you call that?

Keys to Guidance

The administration offers keys to understanding, guidance, and knowledge . . . helpful hints given to the club groups or to newspaper and annual staffs . . . the tired feeling after correcting tests . . . numberless piles of books on desks . . . repeated answering of questions . . . hearing brisk announcements over the intercom . . . listening to constant chatter . . . the feeling of accomplishment when a student begins to understand . . . hurrying to complete grades on report cards . . . feeling happiness along with the graduating seniors . . .

In this the last year of Miss Evans' teaching career, it is with nostalgia that we remember her as an English teacher, a director of senior plays, a sponsor of the Beta Club, and a friend. Those who worked with her will long remember her words of advice. We are glad to have this opportunity to express our thanks to a devoted teacher.

Music and Art

Mr. Edwin Barton

Miss Anita M. McBride

As band and chorus director, Mr. Barton furthers the education of the musical-minded. He has much to be proud of, as the band returns from band festivals with excellent ratings. Mr. Barton puts in many hours outside of class, practicing with the band for half-time activities at the football games, PTA meetings, memorial services, band concerts, and parades. He also practices with the chorus for cantatas and plays.

Art in its third year at Franklin High School offers students an opportunity to express themselves more effectively with their hands. Art students take pride in their work, as one can see by noticing the exhibit cases in the halls of our school. These students make the halls of Franklin High a more attractive school. Miss McBride instructs the classes of Art I and II.

"Let's practice that piece again," Mr. Barton tells the band.

Miss McBride is quite a Mona Lisa herself.

Mrs. Elizabeth T. Cotton

Mr. Gary Rinehart

Mrs. Kitty M. Vann

Mathematics is the science of numbers and quantity. Without it we would not be equipped to face the demands of the world today, for we use mathematics in some form every day.

Through the Math I and II courses, students learn to understand quantities expressed by numbers. Mr. Rinehart teaches the Math I and Math II classes. Mrs. Cotton teaches one class of Math I.

Algebra classes learn to work with symbols which represent numbers in regular operations. Mrs. Vann and Mrs. Cotton provide this knowledge. Both of the teachers teach Algebra I and II. Mrs. Cotton sponsors the majorettes.

Geometry concerns the treatment of space relationships and quantities associated with figures in space. Our assistant principal, Mr. Lassiter, instructs the geometry students.

Trigonometry students study the measurement and relationship of angles. Mrs. Vann teaches advanced algebra and trigonometry.

Taking time out from her classroom work, Mrs. Cotton works a crossword puzzle.

Mrs. Vann helps Mikey solve a trigonometric problem.

S t u d i e s

Franklin High School's Social Studies Department offers three types of social studies. These are history, geography, and government. These courses encourage the students to be better citizens and help them to understand the past.

Medieval and Modern History teaches students the development of civilizations throughout the centuries. World Geography is the study of the topography, climate, and the people of varied countries. Mrs. Beale teaches the students enrolled in these courses. She also teaches one class of seniors enrolled in U. S. Government. Miss Eubank teaches the other government students. U. S. Government is concerned with the way the government of our country is operated.

U. S. History, taught by Mr. Mathews and Mr. Felts, is the study of the development of the United States. Mr. Mathews also teaches World History to the sophomores. He is also head football coach and coach of the girls basketball team.

United States History must really be boring!! Even Mr. Mathews is falling asleep!!!

Doesn't Mrs. Beale pose a pretty picture for the photographer?

Science

Mr. Irvin Lucas

Mrs. Emogene P. McNeeley

Mrs. Ruth T. Petty

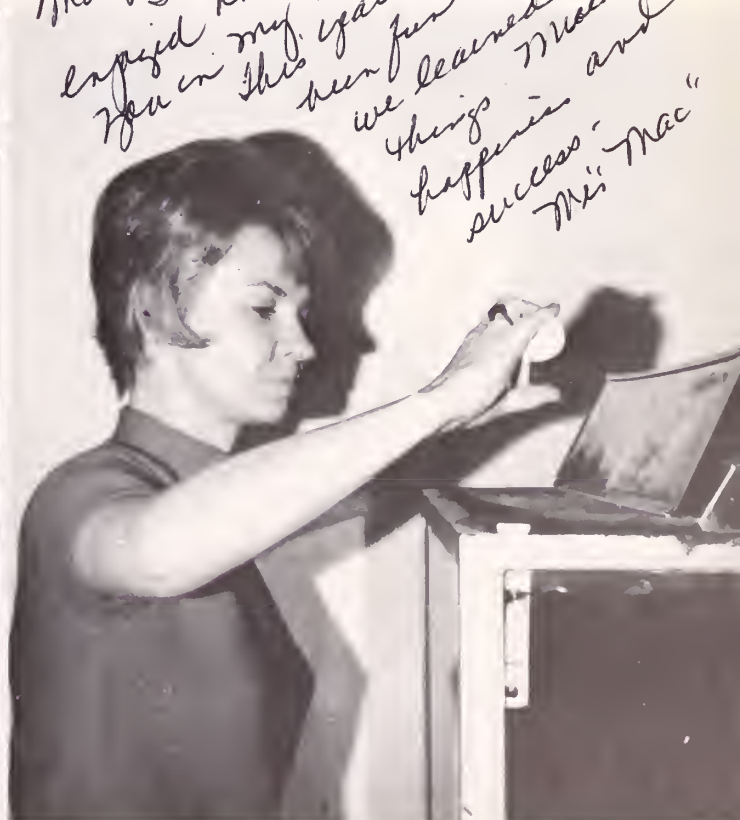

As a requirement for graduation students must complete two science courses. Five courses are offered at Franklin High School. They are general science, biology, chemistry, physics, and advanced science. These courses will help us students in years to come, as they need to understand our environment and how things work.

Mrs. Petty, teaching general science and modern biology, provides our basic knowledge of science in high school. Mrs. McNeeley instructs those students enrolled in advanced Senior Science and BSCS Biology. Physics and chemistry classes are taught by Mr. Lucas, who is advisor of the Hi-Y Club.

*Margaret, I have enjoyed having you in my class this year and I hope we learned a few things. Much success and
Mrs. Mac*

Well now, Mr. Lucas, just what is so funny?

The fish get their daily meal from Mrs. McNeeley.

Business Education

Mrs. Betty W. Darden

Mrs. Mary E. Smith

Franklin High School offers a wide variety of Business Education courses. They are general business, bookkeeping, business law, shorthand, and typing. In her second year at our school, Mrs. Smith instructs those students taking bookkeeping, business law, and shorthand I and II. Mrs. Darden teaches general business and all classes of typing. Mrs. Darden and Mrs. Smith serve as co-sponsors to the Future Business Leaders of America.

Sandra and Betty look on as Mrs. Darden admires pictures.

Mrs. Smith is always willing to help a student with a business subject.

Physical Education

Mr. Frederick Felts

Mrs. Ann F. Gay

Mr. Charles Pearce

Physical development has as much importance as mental development. The students enrolled in physical education classes have a wide variety of sports to participate in. The Physical Education Department at Franklin High School offers the following sports for girls: field hockey, basketball, volleyball, softball, track and field, and gymnastics. Boys participate in football, basketball, baseball, track and field, and gymnastics.

Physical Education students also learn health, first aid, drivers education, and sex education. Mrs. Gay teaches all classes of girls, except one, which is taught by Mr. Felts. Mr. Felts also teaches World History and U. S. History, and one class of boys' physical education. Mr. Pearce teaches the remaining class of P.E.

Mrs. Gay coaches the boys and girls tennis teams; Mr. Felts, junior varsity football and the baseball team. Mr. Pearce, varsity basketball and football line coach, instructs behind-the-wheel driver education during the summer.

SURPRISE!!!

Mr. Pearce: "You want MY picture?"

English

All students are required to take five years of English in order to be a candidate for graduation. Franklin High School English teachers offer an extensive course of English each year. English helps students to express themselves more creatively and to communicate with others. The course is divided into two parts: grammar, which includes punctuation, parts of speech, and spelling; and literature, which provides reading of all kinds and promotes a better understanding of others.

Miss Evans teaches English I, and II and is advisor to the Beta Club. Mrs. Johnson instructs classes of English II, IV, and V. Mrs. Bowman replaced Mrs. Mathews at the beginning of the second semester and teaches English I and II. Mrs. Thorpe, who teaches English III, IV, and V, is advisor to the Quill and Scroll Club. She is sponsor of the annual staff and the newspaper staff.

Our new teacher, Mrs. Bowman, seems already at home at Franklin High School.

Mrs. Johnson seems busy at work as she reviews a play for the seniors to give.

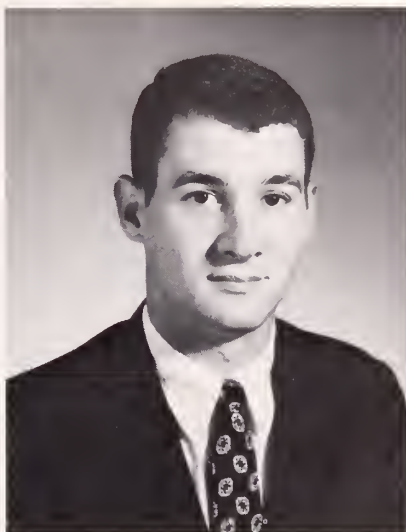

*With best wishes to

Mrs. Minnie G. Beaton

Mr. Douglas Bowers

Mr. W. B. Durette

Through shop and industrial art courses, students learn to develop skill in designing, drawing, and building various articles. Mr. Bowers instructs the students of industrial arts. Mr. Durette assists Mr. Bowers in instructing students in the actual work in the shop.

Through homemaking classes girls learn to prepare for the future from courses in cooking, sewing, home management, home nursing, personal and social development, and child care. Mrs. Beaton teaches home economics and acts as advisor to the Future Homemakers of America.

Mr. Durette and Mr. Bowers discuss school activities with Mr. Blanks, superintendent of Franklin City Schools.

Mrs. Beaton helps one of her students with her sewing problems.

Foreign Language

Miss Winnie F. Eubank

Mr. H. Douglas Vess

*Best wishes to a good Latin student -
I think!
Winnie F. Eubank*

Foreign languages are our most common means of communication with other countries. When we study a foreign language, we learn more than how to speak and write it. We learn about the customs and ways of life of the people. A foreign language also helps us better understand our own language.

French students have many aids to help them learn the language. The language lab is equipped with the latest equipment, including earphones, tape recorders, an opaque projector, records, and flash cards. Mr. Vess teaches the French students and is advisor to the business staff of the annual.

The other foreign language taught at Franklin High School is Latin. Latin students learn that English and Latin are closely related, for half of the words in the English language are derived from Latin. They also learn to appreciate Roman civilization. Miss Eubank, our Latin teacher, also teaches government and is advisor of the Student Cooperative Association and of the Tri-Hi-Y.

Mr. Vess works hard to keep the language lab in perfect condition.

It looks as if Miss Eubank misunderstood the question.

DEDICATION

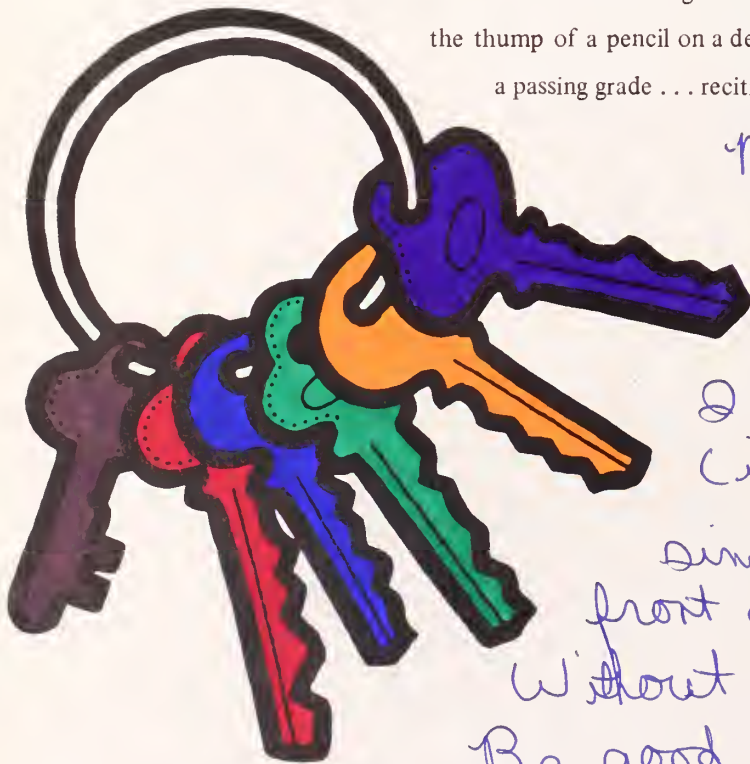

He takes an individual interest in each student. He works unceasingly for the Pep Club activities and Junior-Senior Prom. He transports the cheerleaders to out-of-town games, and he is an avid Bronco fan. Because of these things and our deep love and respect for him, we dedicate the 1969 Log to

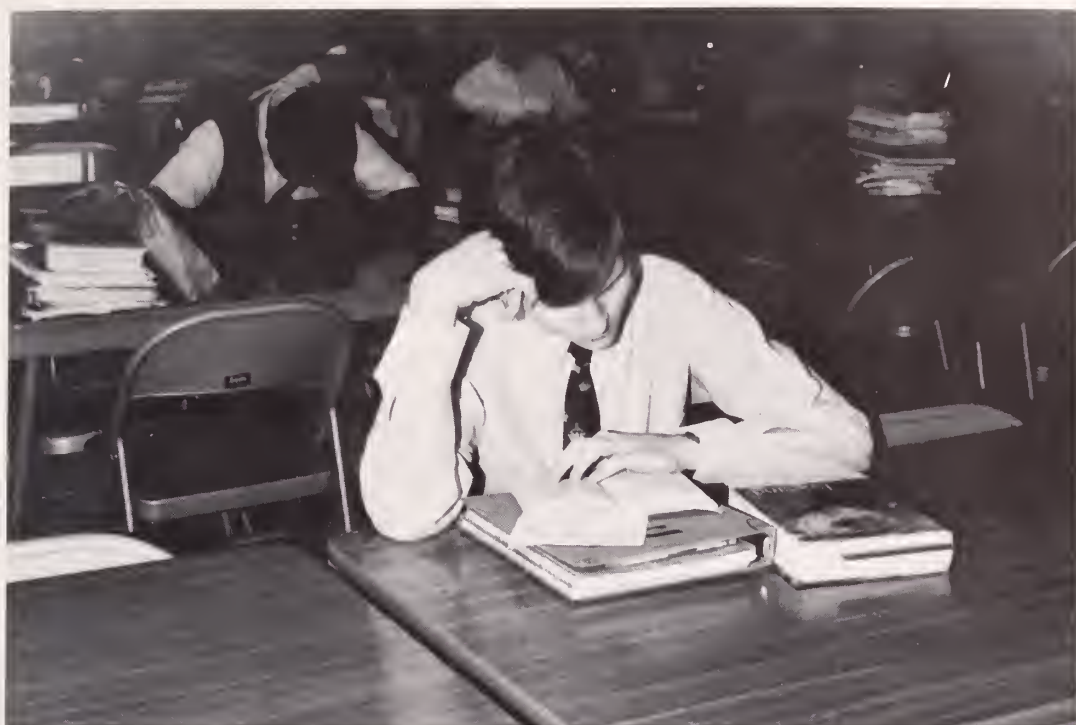

MR. W. B. DURRETTE

Keys to Knowledge

From the keys of classes, we develop various ways in which to express ourselves. At the same time we increase our knowledge . . . lively conversation before the bell rings . . . entering the classroom slowly on the day of exams . . . low groans upon hearing homework assignments . . . deep concentration in remembering dialogues . . . scurrying in the halls between classes . . . the thump of a pencil on a desk . . . a sudden squeal of happiness as one receives a passing grade . . . reciting poetry . . .

Margaret,
Next year in Latin II, when
I'm back in Latin I (just kidding), you simply must sit in front of me and Nell.
Without you I'll never pass!
Be good and stay as sweet
as you⁴⁶ always are.
Love,
Nancy

To See Ourselves As Others See Us

Mr. Lucas shows how easy it is to work the problem.

Students enjoy the lighter (?) side of life.

Marc competes with other library occupants in the 60-second cram.

I thought I had forgotten my locker combination.

Maybe students learn the touch system in sewing.

Students enjoy getting drinks from activity room.

Caught by surprise in a gab session.

Sympathy may be found in first aid room.

Catching up on happenings of the week-end.

The joy of finding a lost article in the files in student activity room.

Home economic girls daily make coffee for the faculty.

Concentration? Wicked thought?

Seniors select name cards.

Some students seem to enjoy class.

Chip looks for layout pages.

Research themes — Ugh!

Keys to Loyalty

Events furnish keys which help instill in students a feeling of love and pride for their school . . . the radiant smiling faces of the Pine Bowl Queen and attendants . . . swelling pride of a football player as he receives a trophy . . . eighth graders bowing before seniors on Rat Day . . . claps and cheers as the Homecoming Court arrives on the field . . . finally the day when class rings arrive . . .

Meet Miss Puppy
Dog Ears!!

To a sweet cute girl with those cute
"Puppy-dog" pigtails!! Best of luck always!!
I'll see you this summer!!

8th Grade: Marge Whitley, escorted by Conway Dameron; Denise Deloatch, escorted by Bryant Holt.

1968 Pine Bowl Action

Christine Lloyd was crowned the 1968 Pine Bowl Queen at the half-time ceremonies.

The Pine Bowl Attendant representing Franklin High School was Patti Kitchen.

Angela Austen, attendant from Forest Glen High School; Christine Lloyd, Queen from Franklin High School; and Patti Kitchen, attendant from Franklin High School were escorted onto the field by their fathers for the half-time ceremonies of the 14th Annual Pine Bowl Game. The proceeds of this game, which is sponsored by the Franklin Lions Club, go to a project for aiding the blind.

The 1968 Football Banquet

The 1968 Football Banquet was held on November 5 in the Franklin High School Cafeteria. The four football awards were presented by Coach Mathews by the following boys: Mike Atkinson, the Most Valuable Back; Richard Pittman, the Most Valuable Lineman; and Jeff Mabe, the Best Defensive Player. The Most Valuable Player Award, which is voted on by the boys themselves, was awarded to Jeff Mabe. He also received the Bronco Achievement Award, which was given by Dr. Fred Ward. The evening was highlighted by a talk given by Ed Booth, the backfield coach of the Norfolk Neptunes.

Mike Atkinson receiving the Most Valuable Back Award from Coach Mathews.

Coach Ed Booth of the Norfolk Neptunes was the speaker for the evening.

FROM LEFT TO RIGHT: Mr. Bowers, Defensive Coach; Mr. Pearce, Line Coach; Mike Atkinson; Jeff Mabe; Richard Pittman; and Mr. Matthews, Head Coach.

It looks like Senior Andy and Rat Marge enjoyed their "unusual" day.

Rat

Day . . .

Smile, Mitzi! You're on "Rat for a Day!"

Why is everyone laughing while Michael sings the "Alma Mater?"

. . . And the Seniors Have Their Say!

Why would anyone pose in such a weird outfit like Martha's wearing?

What's this? A new skirt length for our female friends?

How can these "rats" work so seriously when they all look so funny?

First Semester Highlights

The students begin the new school year by buying their supplies from Wayne at the book store.

The seniors immediately put into action their long-awaited privileges.

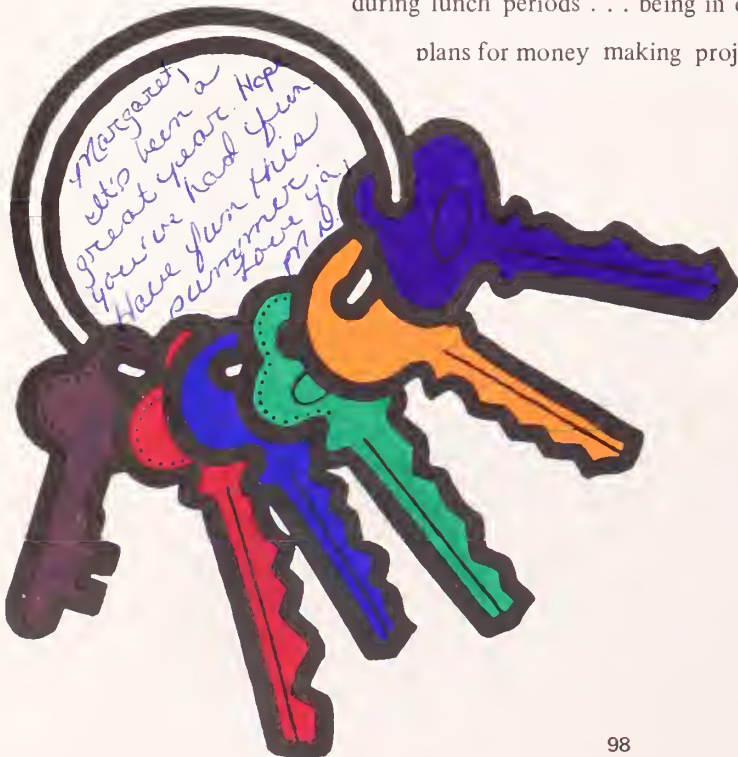

The highlight of the semester for the juniors was the arrival of their class rings. Allene and Connie seemed to be pleased with their selections.

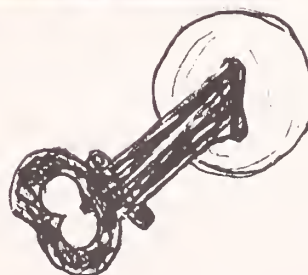

With the first semester's ending, the only thought in the minds of the students was studying for those unavoidable exams.

Keys to Responsibility

With the keys to activities, we grow socially, we develop a sense of responsibility . . . decorating the Christmas tree with colorful ornaments . . . participating in discussion for the dedication to the annual . . . introduction of speakers for informative programs . . . new members anxious to be inducted into clubs during morning assemblies . . . busily selling school newspapers during lunch periods . . . being in charge of various national drives . . . discussing plans for money making projects . . .

The Student Co-operative Association is one of the most important organizations at Franklin High School. Its purpose is to give every student a voice in school affairs and an opportunity to participate in all student government activities. The S.C.A., which is composed of representatives from each first period class, works in cooperation with the faculty and administration to organize activities and make decisions for themselves. Some of the activities organized by the S.C.A. include the student-faculty basketball game, the door decorations contest during Christmas, and the annual student body elections. The Honor Council is a portion of the S.C.A. consisting of representatives from each grade and the vice-president of the student body. The purpose of the group is to discourage any form of dishonesty in our school and to instill in the students high standards of honor and dignity.

At the meetings Miss Eubank listens to the suggestions of students who wish to help with future projects.

Each year the S.C.A. sponsors a door decorating contest in which students from each room try to win a ribbon for their decorations.

Annual Staff

EDITORIAL STAFF, SEATED: D. Campbell, L. Lankford, C. Lloyd, D. Kingery, D. Scott, P. Kitchen. STANDING: S. Lowe, M. Jones, C. Beaman, C. Johnson, P. Watson, J. Rabil, J. Galloway, J. Kannan, C. Kingery, C. Porter, J. Burrow, A. Phillips, T. Cotton.

During the year the annual staff, consisting of both the editorial staff and the business staff, worked diligently in order to publish The Log for the students at Franklin High School. The students on both staffs not only developed a sense of responsibility, but they also learned to work with others. Under the supervision and guidance of the sponsors, Mrs. Thorpe and Mr. Vess, the annual staff learned to develop originality, imagination, courtesy, tactfulness, as well as literary and business skills.

BUSINESS STAFF, SEATED: N. Kitchen, G. Doughty, N. Land, J. Holt, S. Hancock. STANDING: B. Robertson, C. Lankford, C. Smith, B. King, S. Cotton.

Norfleet, Mrs. Gadberry.

During the year the Library Club works with Mrs. Gadberry, the librarian, to help improve the library program in the school. The members help by aiding the librarian at the circulation desk, putting up attractive bulletin boards, and stimulating an interest in reading among the students. The club also encourages an interest in library work as a career; and at the end of each school year, the club members donate something useful to the library.

The Future Homemakers of America is an organization which teaches young girls to live better today so that their homes may be better tomorrow. It is a course which offers a great variety of interest because the field of home-making is such a broad one. The projects done by the students are directed toward helping its members face the challenge of becoming good homemakers, and it provides an opportunity for developing leadership and citizenship.

Mrs. Beaton,
Sponsor

Home economics students learn many important tasks, such as that of sewing, which will be of great value in future years.

The students not only learn how to make their own clothes, but they also learn about the machine with which they sew.

Future Business Leaders of America

Sponsor

Each year the F.B.L.A. sponsors the Mr. Beautiful contest, in which the football players compete for the title by dressing as girls.

The Franklin Chapter of the Future Business Leaders of America has participated actively in rendering services to the school and the community. The Future Business Leaders of America sponsors financial and promotional activities such as the annual Mr. Beautiful Contest. The members also have the important task of operating the Student Supply Room. Some of their other projects include making bulletin boards for the business classrooms, assisting teachers with their typing, and serving as guides whenever they are needed.

Margaret, had fun
 sure have I hate in Latin right? I hate to think there's another whole year of it ahead!
 Good luck next year.
 Luff ya!
 Connie

Margaret,
I'd been nice
having you in my class. Hope you are in some more of mine
next year. Have a nice summer
Marshall
P.S. Thanks for that card you sent me.

Margaret,
 and have good
 you, sweet summer
 see it go a long way.

Best of luck to you in the future.
Chet

Margaret,
Kasim & I have been fun this year. you've the only smart one in the class. Have fun this summer but behave.
Love you.
Eleanor

Margaret,
To a really great girl! Always study
your Latin! Remember
our first Aid class!
Sweet & good luck!

Love ya,
Sandra D.

Margaret,
Be good this summer
and I wish you lots of luck in whatever activities
you undertake.
(Whit Day)

Margaret,
You a brilliant "algebraist!"
If you're half as good in other things, as you are algebra, then you've got a great future ahead.

Have fun this summer. Candy L.

Margaret,
Remember those FUN days
in Sunday School!
Good Luck always,
Ann Smith

What a time we have with Dot!!!
Hope to be as fun next year too.
You're a swell gal

The Band and Chorus Perform

Raymond West seems to be telling the others something as he sings.

The chorus, as the band, performs on many occasions throughout the school year. This year as one of their performances, they presented the comedy, Bubble Trouble.

Bubble Central seems to be a very busy place.

The band gives an excellent performance.

The band works hard all year giving many performances. Under the direction of Mr. Barton the band presented the Sixteenth Annual Spring Concert.

Mr. Barton directs the Sixteenth Annual Spring Concert.

"Moonlight

Juniors spent a busy day Saturday decorating.

Some admire the entrance during the dance.

Many couples take pictures at the prom.

The decorations typified the theme, "Moonlight and Roses."

Senior Prom

The couples rest between dances.

Mrs. Beale and Johnnie are busily decorating.

The Cliffhangers supplied the music.

Everyone seems to be enjoying themselves.
